COMPETITION BRIEF

“The Voiceless Story”

During a long journey away from your country, you find yourself in a magic castle with other travelers. You would like to introduce yourself and tell your story but suddenly you realize that you are inexplicably unable to speak. No words come out of your mouth.

After a moment of despair, you realize that the only way you can communicate is by using images. Luckily, in your bag you have everything you always bring with you: your survival art kit (colors, images, photographs, objects, materials etc.)

How would you put something together in order to tell who you are?

What is it?

Applicants should submit a creative project that is coherent with their chosen field and that is representative of their identity: a color, an object, a piece of fabric, a sound a video...
