ENGAGING LEGAL SCHOLARSHIP

Join Us in the Heart of Northern California

The University of California, Davis is centrally located in beautiful Northern California, where students can explore nearby cultural and historic sites like San Francisco, Silicon Valley, Lake Tahoe, Sacramento, Yosemite, Los Angeles and Napa Valley. Davis is an open and diverse community prized for its safety and family-friendliness, and where international students are sure to feel welcome and safe. Students often remark that the campus' famous open space contributes to a relaxed environment that supports study and academic research.

The city of Davis is renowned for being one of America's true college towns. Small town safety and ease blend with big city amenities like sophisticated restaurants, theater and entertainment. The centralized, walkable Davis downtown offers world cuisine, delightful shops, and inspiring entertainment and social activities.

Davis is also known for its 160 kilometers of bicycle paths, which make getting around easy. Our Mediterranean climate makes outdoor activities a year-round delight, and our reputation for environmental awareness and sustainability make it an ideal location to view and experience holistic approaches to energy conservation, landscape and architectural design, and transportation strategies.

Exceptional Campus Setting

- UC Davis Arboretum—41 hectares of beautiful gardens
- The “Bike Capital of the United States” with more than 160 kilometers of bicycle lanes and paths
- A short drive to San Francisco, Silicon Valley, Napa Valley, Lake Tahoe and Yosemite National Park

INTERNATIONAL COMMERCIAL LAW LL.M. PROGRAM

A part-time, summer program, completed in two to five summers

The International Commercial Law LL.M. program offers a unique opportunity to study U.S. legal systems in the company of practicing attorneys from around the world. Global commerce spans national borders, yet borders indicate different legal systems, tax systems and regulatory environments. Doing business within the United States, or with U.S. companies, requires investors and legal advisers to have some knowledge of the U.S. legal, tax and regulatory systems. The course of study for the International Commercial Law LL.M. is designed to provide students with that background.

UNIVERSITY PROGRAMS

UC Davis Extension's Center for International Education (CIE) manages several of the university's visiting study and research programs for international students. Our University Programs partner with more than 60 benchmark universities and government agencies in Asia, Australia, Europe and South America to attract talented students for undergraduate study and research at UC Davis on a non-degree basis.

UNIVERSITY CREDIT PROGRAMS

These short-term study and research programs allow international students from partner universities with excellent academics and strong English skills to attend UC Davis classes alongside UC Davis students. University Credit Program students receive University of California academic credit that contributes toward their own degree program requirements at their home universities.

GLOBAL RESEARCH EXPERIENCE IN ADVANCED TECHNOLOGIES (GREAT)

Participants in the GREAT Summer Research Program gain research experience in state-of-the-art laboratories under the mentorship of leading UC Davis faculty members in a wide variety of disciplines. Students are matched with UC Davis faculty based upon their preference, faculty availability and the discretion of the program faculty director. Enrollment is limited to students from select partner universities.

SUMMER START

This elective orientation and cultural immersion program provides incoming, international UC Davis freshmen with a strong foundation in U.S. academic culture, UC Davis values, language skills and broad cultural awareness for the best possible start to their UC Davis experience. During six weeks in the summer, participants get to know the campus and community at a relaxed pace with the added benefit of taking courses for credit and making progress toward UC Davis graduation requirements.

"The most rewarding part of this experience was the friendships I made here. It also helped me realize that I want to study math in the future. I'm not exaggerating, it changed my life."

—Jianping Pan, Renmin University, China

"The GREAT program provides a lot of freedom to do research at UC Davis. All the people here are really helpful. The program coordinators were very patient and warmhearted."

—Shunyao Wang, Zhejiang University

"It is a great way to meet new friends and learn more about our campus."

—Tsung-Wei Yu (David),
Summer Start 2015, Taiwan

ADVANCED CHEMICAL ENGINEERING (ACE) CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Interacting with University of California faculty in small personalized settings, Advanced Chemical Engineering Certificate Program students enroll in a sequence of existing graduate courses in the UC Davis Department of Chemical Engineering, which focus on advanced chemical engineering. Professionals in chemical engineering, and related fields in biology and biomedical engineering, attend and gain a competitive advantage for admission to Ph.D. and master's degree programs in chemical engineering at UC Davis—ranked #30 among U.S. graduate school programs according to U.S. News and World Report 2016 rankings—and other leading U.S. universities.

Participants in this program have all been accepted for graduate study at UC Davis.

DESTINATION DAVIS

This two-and-a-half year program is designed for international students who wish to improve their academic and/or English language skills while preparing to transfer to UC Davis. Students enter the program in a unique preparatory English language academic training program, complete a series of courses at the Davis campus of Sacramento City College and, upon successful completion of program requirements, transfer to UC Davis. See pages 19 and 20 for details.

CUSTOM TRAINING PROGRAMS

The University Programs deliver customized, short-term training programs for partner universities. Past training programs have included topics such as California Agriculture, American Culture, English Language, and Research Skills. Partner universities have developed customized versions of these programs for use as Honors Seminars for outstanding students; they have also been utilized to initiate the development of new university partnerships.

SUMMER PROGRAMS FOR INDIVIDUAL STUDENTS

Individual students may enroll in summer youth programs to expand their knowledge of English language and culture (for non-native English speakers), science and technology, and college preparation. Each program increases students' confidence and self-reliance. Activities on the UC Davis campus, as well as program-specific field trips, are integrated into the educational experience.

For example, the English and Culture Program (for non-native English speakers) is perfect for international students wanting to improve their English language skills and understanding of American culture. The four-week program consists of English classes in the morning and facilitated language development activities in the afternoons. All-day excursions take place on Saturdays. This program is offered in July and August.

- U.S. College Preparation Program
- Science Program
- Leadership Program

GROW!

Students enjoy a variety of uniquely Northern California experiences.

Zhaozhong (Tony) Du: A Success Story

"Tony" Du attended the U.S. College Preparation Program as a junior in high school in China. He expressed interest in applying to a liberal arts school in the United States, so during his junior year he applied to 11 schools. Six schools accepted him—including Pratt Institute, Maryland Institute College of Art, Temple University, University of Colorado Boulder, New Jersey Institute of Technology and University of Massachusetts Amherst.

He chose the University of Massachusetts Amherst, and is currently going into his sophomore year. He is one of many who have been admitted to universities across the United States after attending the U.S. College Preparation Program. These students not only become more knowledgeable about applying to a U.S. college, but have better writing skills. They are always thrilled when they receive a letter of recommendation from the instructor after completing the program requirements.

UC Davis Extension

As the lifelong learning arm of UC Davis, we provide a wide array of courses and programs that help international participants achieve their educational and professional goals. For more information, visit us at extension.ucdavis.edu.

INTERNATIONAL CUSTOM PROGRAMS

For more than 35 years, the Center for International Education at UC Davis Extension has created custom programs for many government organizations, including Ministries of Education and major universities. International custom programs are based on specialized knowledge from the University of California, Davis, or on a specific need utilizing knowledge from multiple institutions, including the University of California, members of industry, and the U.S. and state governments. We identify outstanding instructors to develop the highest quality curricula tailored to specific client needs. Depending on the length and content of study, students in custom programs may receive certificates of attendance, certificates of academic credit or diplomas.

Takahiro Sasaki: A Success Story

The Center for International Education's Japanese Ag Training Program originated more than 15 years ago. Each year, trainees come for nine weeks of academic instruction in specialty fields of agriculture and agribusiness. Takahiro attended in 2008, and after returning to Japan he began a start-up vegetable farm. Due to unfortunate circumstances, the farm did not do well, but "Taka" did not give up. He decided to return to the United States where he enrolled in a community college and then eventually transferred to California Polytechnic State University (Cal Poly). During his senior year, Taka reconnected with the Japanese Ag Training Program and was hired as a program interpreter. This fall Taka will officially return to student life, this time as a graduate student at UC Davis.

Our Process

You will work with one of our program coordinators to explore program options to fit your specific needs. Schedules, dates and fees will be incorporated into a written proposal. If you are working with an independent agency for administrative services, we will work with them to handle logistical details. At the conclusion of the program, our program coordinator will provide a detailed report, including student evaluations, feedback and suggestions for improvement.

Online Learning

The Center for International Education has a strong online learning portfolio. It possesses a breadth of courses and certificate programs that can be accessed throughout the world. We can also design online and hybrid programs that include online curriculum with traditional on-site instruction, based on both internal University of California strengths and current needs of international clients. Some program examples include information technology, teacher training, education, agriculture, viticulture, human resources, business and leadership, and English composition.

STUDENT SERVICES

The Center for International Education provides our students with all the support and services they need to have a successful experience. International students have access to most facilities and privileges available at UC Davis. These include libraries, wireless Internet access, sports and recreational facilities, the Memorial Union, the Student Health and Wellness Center, the Unitrans bus system and many more—sometimes with a small additional fee. We also provide students with personal assistance and advising on academic and visa issues, grade reports and continuous help-desk assistance.

Visas and Immigration Assistance

UC Davis is authorized under federal law to enroll nonimmigrant students and to manage and extend their immigration documents.

Medical Insurance

International students must have medical insurance that is valid in the United States. They must show proof of insurance coverage in English at registration (a minimum of $500,000 U.S. dollars in coverage). Otherwise, students must purchase medical insurance at registration. We are currently able to provide excellent coverage at a rate of $40 per week.*

Student Health and Wellness Center (SHCS)

SHCS provides quality and cost-sensitive care tailored to the unique and diverse needs of students. The center provides campus health and wellness resources that enable students to successfully achieve their academic goals and promote lifelong wellness.

Smoke and Tobacco Free Campus

UC Davis is a Smoke and Tobacco Free Campus. Smoking is not allowed in campus buildings, including dormitories, or on campus property, including parking lots and rental units. Free tobacco cessation services are available to all registered students.

Preparation for Your Departure

Before you travel to your program, make sure you have your immigration documents (I-20, passport and visa) and proof of medical insurance in English (if purchased at home). You may also want to book in advance your transportation from the airport to your destination in Davis. The Davis Airporter provides transportation from the Sacramento International Airport (SMF) and San Francisco International Airport (SFO) to Davis. Visit <http://davisairporter.com>

AN UNMATCHED CULTURAL EXPERIENCE

Homestay

With a homestay arrangement you will live with a local family and experience an American family lifestyle. There are many benefits to being placed with a homestay host family. The cultural experience is unmatched by any other residential placement and is an excellent way to expand your cultural and educational experience. Homestay housing arrangements are not one-size-fits all. You can choose to have your own room or you can share a room with another student. You can eat all or some of your meals with your host family. Or, you can choose to take care of all of your meals on your own. You choose the situation that best meets your needs.

Renting a Room in a Private House or Apartment

Many Davis families and student groups rent out rooms in their own homes for approximately $450-$700 per month. Renting a room is an excellent opportunity to live with others who are not part of the International Programs. Students can make these arrangements on their own once they arrive in Davis.

Dormitories

Dormitories (conveniently located near the UC Davis campus) are often open to international students during the summer. Students share a room with one other student. Rooms come equipped with two beds, dressers and desks. Meals are provided in the campus dining halls, and membership at the Activities and Recreation Center is included.

Housing for University Groups

If you are a university or organization that will be sending a group of students, CIE Housing is here to help you arrange housing for your group. We will work with you to find the housing that best fits the needs of your specific group.

For more information about any of the above, visit our website at extension.ucdavis.edu/housing or contact the Center for International Education Housing office at ciehousing@ucdavis.edu or +1 (530) 757-8988.
